

The 2020 EANS Summer School will be hosted by the Institute of Nursing Science, Faculty of Medicine, University of Cologne (UoC).

We are very much looking forward to welcome you to Cologne!

Welcome to Cologne - cosmopolitan and modern metropolis on the Rhine

Cologne is a 2,000-year-old city in the western Germany on the Rhine and the cultural center of its region. With about 1.1 million inhabitants, Cologne is the fourth largest city in Germany. The present-day metropolis was founded in Roman times and due to the important Cologne Cathedral, a Gothic cathedral with its famous two towers (world heritage), its Romanesque churches as well as other medieval monuments, a more than 2000-year-old city history, important events and their cultural and culinary heritage, Cologne raised to one of the most important tourist destinations in Europe. The favorable location on the Rhine and a well-developed infrastructure with an extensive rail passenger long-distance traffic, four inland ports and the Cologne/ Bonn Airport also implies Cologne an international significance as an economic and cultural metropolis. It is one of the most important locations of the chemical and automotive industry worldwide as well as one of Europe's leading medical centers. A high level of expertise and top-rate innovative medicine characterizes the health sector in Cologne.

Faculty of Medicine, University of Cologne (UoC)

The University of Cologne is one of the oldest and largest universities in Europe. Due to its outstanding scientific achievements besides the high quality and diversity of its degree programs, it enjoys an excellent international reputation.

The Faculty of Medicine is one of six Faculties of the University and integrates 10 study programs, more than 3,600 students and about 1,800 scientists in over 50 clinical departments, institutes and centers for research and teaching, with an outstanding focus on interdisciplinary, practice-, patient- and science-oriented teaching as well as translational research. The Institute of Nursing Science will be established in early 2020. In cooperation with the University Hospital Cologne, in 2017 the Faculty of Medicine has established the new academic teaching and research field for Clinical Nursing, as a major pillar of the University Medicine Cologne and as one of the first University study programs in Nursing Sciences in Germany. The 4-year dual study program in Clinical Nursing, with currently 75 full time Bachelor students and assigning 180 ECTS, combines a vocational training as a "registered nurse" and an academic education in nursing-related research fields to focus on evidence-based practice, complex patient care and nursing research.

In addition, the Faculty of Medicine supports the international exchange of nursing students with over 80 European and non-European partner universities and offers due to "Studium Integrale" versatile possibilities for the extension of soft skills (e.g. communication, presentation or foreign languages), as well as political or cultural exchanges with students of all disciplines.

Frankfurt Airport (FRA), the largest German airport, is also an alternative for traveling to Cologne by plane. It will take about 60min by public transportation (several ICE connections; price: ~40,00€) to Cologne Central Station. The long-distance train station “Frankfurt a. Main Flughafen Fernbahnhof” is located in front of Terminal 1.

Travelling in Cologne...

..by PUBLIC TRANSPORT (TRAM)

©Fabian Stürtz - Universität zu Köln

The cheapest and easiest way to travel in Cologne is via KVB (Tram).

KVB operates daily from about 4:30 am to 2:00 am (different on public holidays). A usual price for single trips is 3,00€. For a one-week-stay we would recommend a one-week-ticket (26,30€).

The nearest tram station to the hotel is "Köln Poststr." (5min). For the daily trip to the Medical Faculty campus, please take line 3, 16 or 18 to "Neumarkt". Change there for line 9 to "Lindenburg / Universitätskliniken" (it takes about 18min). From "Lindenburg" to the campus, you need to walk 3min.

From Cologne Bonn Airport (railway station is in the middle of the airport) you can take different regional trains (RE6,8 or S19) to Cologne Central Station. At Cologne Central Station, please take line 18 or 16 to "Köln Poststr".

From the hotel to Cologne City Centre, please take line 16 or 18 to "Neumarkt" or to "Dom/ Hauptbahnhof".

..by TAXI

All taxis in Cologne have fare meters, they should display the meter on the dashboard of the taxi, providing the passenger with the trip total amount.
